Variety of Actions in Adjudged Session of County Court Monday

Several Arrangements Made Before Judge Frederick Traver—Few Civil Matters Ready for Trial—Negligence Action Settled.

An adjourned session of the September term of county court was convened Monday afternoon with County Judge Frederick G. Traver presiding. At the opening of court Judge Traver attempted to make up a day calendar of civil cases but his efforts failed, but one case being found which counsel desired to try. Judge Traver stated to the attorneys present that he had given notice that as opportunity would be given this week to try civil matters if attorneys so desired, but apparently there was little desire to go to trial. Another attempt to make up a day calendar will be made today when the jury returns. If no success is met the rest of the term will be devoted to criminal work and will then be concluded.

One case, No. 37, Cluett Schantz against A. J. Elliott, a negligence action, was announced as settled.

District Attorney Murray had several arrangements under sealed indictments which were handed up by the last grand jury and which had been transferred to county court by order of the supreme court. The criminal calendar will be taken up next Monday.

An indictment against Hills Sanford, driver of the Ford coupe which set with an accident near the Lloyd owns line a year ago, resulting in the death of Angeline Arace of this city, Josephine Tourist of Port Ewen and Oscar Zimmerman, a companion of Sanford, was dismissed by the court at the request of the complaining witnesses and with the consent of the district attorney, Frank W. Brooks, who appeared for Sanford. It charged manslaughter. He said there had been civil actions instituted and tried and there was no further desire by complainant to prosecute the driver of the car. Sanford and his companion, Zimmerman, were enroute to New Jersey and as they passed through Kingston they picked up two Arace girls and the tourist girl on Broadway and started for Highland. The girls were going to Poughkeepsie to attend a dance and the boys had offered to take them as far as Highland. Near the end of the car left the road and collided with a tree and fence. All five people were in the front seat of the Ford coupe.

George L. Dawes, who appeared in court in September on a failure to support charge, again appeared in court. Mr. Murray stated that since September a report had been made by the probation officer and Dawes had made payments. Monday Dawes said to Assistant Probation Officer Tolyneaux an additional sum which said him to up to date. Judge Traver held the case open until January 9 and informed Dawes that he expected him to continue to make good his payments.

George Atkins, charged with carrying a dangerous weapon, failed to appear in court. Earl Houghtaling, who appears as counsel for Atkins, stated that he had notified his client on Saturday the latter had failed to reach his destination and he stated he would produce Atkins in court on November 20 at 2 o'clock.

William Lewis, Jr., was arraigned on a charge of abandonment of children on December 5, 1932, and also unlawfully omitting to provide for minor children. He entered a plea of guilty to the second charge, a violation of Section 482, which is a misdemeanor. He agreed to pay $4 per week toward the support of his 4 year old child. Judge Traver postponed imposition of sentence until January 9 at 2 o'clock and warned Lewis that he must make good his promise to get a job and pay the weekly sum.

Jesse Trowbridge of Stone Ridge charged with rape, second degree, alleged to have been committed in the town of Olive on April 16, 1932, was also arraigned under a sealed indictment. Asked if he desired to indictment. Asked if he desired to enter a plea he hesitated and then replied "well, I was there." He attempted to explain the situation but was advised to enter a plea at this time of not guilty and hire a lawyer. He entered such a plea and will appear in court November 20 at 2 o'clock with his lawyer.

Richard Barley of town of Esopus was also arraigned on a charge of rape, second degree, alleged to have been committed on June 26, 1933. Frank W. Brooks appeared for Barley and a plea of not guilty was entered and Mr. Brooks asked for a copy of the indictment. Bail was provided.

L. C. Wilber of Lake Hill, charged with carrying a dangerous weapon, on October 1, 1932, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of possession of a weapon. Bail was continued until January 9, at 2 o'clock, when imposition of sentence will be imposed.

Edwin R. Rogers, charged with abandonment of children and unlawfully omitting to provide for minor children, alleged to have been committed on August 29, 1932, entered a plea of not guilty. He said he had no money to engage counsel and Judge Traver assigned Nicholas J. Barker. The court set bail at $1,000, but on consent of Mr. Murray, reduced it to $500 in order that the defendant might secure bail and get out and earn something with which to make payments if he so desired.

Several other defendants were called and failed to respond and bench warrants will be issued to bring them into court.

Court recessed until 10 o'clock this morning.

Lindbergh Disclaims Thought of Non-Stop Flight Over Atlantic

Return to U. S. by Southern Route Will Be Made in Easy Stages to Study Original Route of Pan-American Airways, With Stops at Bermuda and Azores.

Caldwell De Troy, Spain, Nov. 14 (AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh said today he is thinking of making an exploration tour across the Atlantic ocean by the southern route, similar to his recent stage-by-stage flight of the North Atlantic, and has no thought of a non-stop flight.

Colonel Lindbergh, who with Mrs. Lindbergh stayed aboard their seaplane last night after they were forced down by fog on a flight from Santos, Spain, to Lisbon, was taken ashore today by the launch of the Spanish gunboat Pradera and he and Mrs. Lindbergh were entertained by village authorities.

They said the prevailing fog and coastal storm would keep them here until tomorrow at which time they hoped to continue their trip to Lisbon toward which they set out from Geneva Saturday.

The forthcoming Lindbergh transatlantic flight, according to aviation officials, is the one originally mapped by the late Captain Allen Winslow of Pan-American Airways in whose interests the Lindberghs are making their present aerial survey.

The Winslow route indicated halts at Bermuda and the Azores.

Girl Scout Camp Committee Report

The report of the Girl Scout Camp Committee for the past season is given as follows:

Camp Wendy at Wallkill was open from July 8 to September 2 with a regular campment for six weeks and a limited number of campers and staff for the last two weeks.

The staff consisted of the director, 21 counselors and assistants with 200 Scouts in camp, 23 Brownies and 12 girls who became Scouts while in camp, totaling 235.

Financially the camp was a success and the balance of approximately $350 will be used for needed repairs and equipment at camp for the coming year. In addition to the $1,000 paid, the camp committee paid out of camp funds for two weeks training for the director at a national camp and two weeks' training at Camp Edith Macy for Dorothy McConnell of Ellenville, who was not only a counselor at camp but is a lieutenant in a troop in Ellenville. $820.32 was spent on minor repairs, equipment and buildings. Of this amount Lewis Borden gave us $146.67 which was the cost of re-roofing and repairing Peter Pan and for which the council is most grateful.

The salaries of the staff were much lower than in former years but the committee is satisfied that the work of the staff was very satisfactory and that the success of the camp was largely due to the splendid work and cooperation of the director and her counselors. The program was carried out with the unit system and practically every girl in camp was home with a card showing that she had passed some Scout work which would help her to carry on her Scout work this winter.

The committee thinks that the camp was a success, not only financially but as a Scout camp. The representatives from national headquarters have said the camp this year would become an accredited camp and best of all, Scout almost without an exception went home praising Camp Wendy, saying that they had a glorious time, plenty of fun, plenty of Scout work and plenty of food.

Through lack of funds at the present time there is no director of the Girl Scouts in Ulster county. It is hoped that sufficient funds will be raised so that the county director, Miss Eaton, will again be secured in the spring.

Bennett Says State Lacks License Right

Attorney General Sees No Authority to License Campers to Use State Forest Preserves—Does Not Dispute Temporary Permits.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., in an opinion today, ruled that the State Conservation Department lacks authority to levy a fee for a license entitling the holder to use state forest preserve land for camping purposes.

The opinion was made at the request of Lithgow Osborne, conservation commissioner.

The department's right to issue temporary permits with a service charge for developed camp sites was not disputed.

W.C.T.U. Announces Plan For Drive Upon Drink Habit, Traffic

National Forces Will Be Mobilized in 25 Regional Conferences—Objectives of Plan Are Listed—To Attack "Racketeer Report."

Evansville, Ill., Nov. 14 (AP)—The W. C. T. U. announced today part of its plan for a drive on what is described as "the drink habit and the drink traffic."

It includes, a statement from the organization said, "the mobilization of its entire national force in twenty-five regional conferences, to be called in strategic cities from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Canadian boundary to the Rio Grande River" at dates not yet determined.

Among the objectives of the drive, the statement said, "is to expose the so-called 'Racketeer Report,' as contained in the book, 'Toward Liquor Control' as an unscientific effort to glorify the liquor traffic and an excuse for increased drinking, under the dangerous formula of 'true temperance.'"

Other objectives were given as: "1.—Showing the social, economic and personal importance of total abstinence as opposed to moderation. "2.—To expose the phrase 'true temperance' as a brewers' term; a mere invitation to drink beer. "3.—Resist the advertising campaign for beer and wine; oppose efforts of brewers to give away beer to children and other minors; to ask for complete prohibition of liquor advertising by newspapers, magazines, radio, motion pictures or billboards. "4.—Work to retain all state prohibition laws; work for prohibition from local units to the largest political division obtainable. "5.—Arrange a visual education program showing the economic loss from liquor window displays showing the drag on the family purse from beer; keep the radio waves hot for total abstinence. Don't let the brewers into the home via microphone without going right in behind him. "6.—Establish state and local committees of research or inquiry to get the truth about the effects of the legalized liquor industry; this includes arrests for drunkenness, automobile accidents caused by drinking drivers and all other results of the manufacture and sale of liquor."

"MINNESOTA MAN" GETS ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE

Minneapolis, Nov. 14 (AP)—Additional evidence that man lived in Minnesota at least 20,000 years ago has been submitted by Dr. A. E. Jenks, professor of anthropology at the University of Minnesota.

In a report to Dr. Louis D. Cogman, president of the university, yesterday, Dr. Jenks describes discovery of javelin points he believes to be more than 20,000 years old.

In 1932 Dr. Jenks announced discovery of human skeleton remains of the Mongoloid type, found by a road crew in northwestern Minnesota. He stated his belief that the skeleton had been buried when the last ice age was nearing its end, about 20,000 years ago.

Finding the javelin points "confirms our belief that early man lived and hunted" in what is now Minnesota 20,000 years ago, Dr. Jenks stated in his report. The javelin points were found during the past summer.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CALLED TWICE MONDAY EVENING

The fire department responded to two bell alarms Monday evening. The first was at 8:22 o'clock when some one saw considerable smoke coming from the chimney on the building of James Spadafora at 13 Hasbrouck avenue, and turned in an alarm from Box 24. There was no damage. At 11:40 o'clock a woodshed owned by Edward Gallagher of 504 Delaware avenue was discovered on fire and an alarm was turned in from Box 46. The woodshed was considerably damaged before the fire was brought under control. The origin of the fire is unknown.

NEW HAVEN BOY KILLED WHILE REPAIRING A TIRE

Rye, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—Frank Ruppello, 24, of New Haven, Conn., was instantly killed last night when he was struck by an automobile while aiding a friend repair a tire on the Boston Post Road here.

Sylvester S. Kennedy, 26, of Port Chester, N. Y., struck Ruppello and then crashed into the rear of a truck. He was removed to a hospital with a fractured skull. A technical charge of homicide was preferred against him.

PRESIDENT GRANTS PARDON TO LOTTERY LAW VIOLATOR

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt today granted a pardon to Frank E. Hering, national secretary of the Eagles, South Bend, Ind., just as he was about to enter prison to serve a four months sentence for conviction of violation of the anti-lottery law.

Stomach Remains Stolen.

Stockholm, Sweden, Nov. 14 (AP)—Robbers last night stole the famous Rembrandt "Jeremiah Mourning Over the Destruction of Jerusalem" from the home of M. H. Rasch, art collector. He has refused to sell the picture for $145,000 because he had given it to his daughter when she was three years old.

Nazis Expect Accord, See a Personal Bias In Henderson Stand

German Desire for Friendly Gestures Abroad Strongly Dismissed As Illusion—No Great Importance Given to Conference President's View—Expect Complete Centralization of German Federated States.

Berlin, Nov. 14 (AP)—Germany was believed today to be looking expectantly for a friendly gesture from abroad in matters of international politics—especially disarmament.

The threat of Arthur Henderson of Great Britain to resign as president of the Disarmament Conference unless nations change their "attitude" regarding arms was interpreted here merely as Henderson's personal disappointment in regard to disarmament questions.

While internally grounds are being prepared for drastic changes in the constitution which may already have been decided upon when the Reichstag meets about December 1, German newspapers with one accord are hammering into their readers' minds headlines such as:

"Europe Must Decide," or "German Election Determines European Course," and many others in similar vein.

As plans for radical changes internally were discussed, the population continued its celebration today of the Nazi triumph when voters endorsed the government's foreign policy stand Sunday. Many flags still flew. Banners were allowed to remain in place.

One of Chancellor Hitler's first moves is expected to be in the direction of massing the federated states under Berlin's complete central authority.

Funeral Today For Lieut. C. T. Dixon

Late Armorer of Local State Armory Buried With Appropriate Ceremonies—Last Tributes Paid.

Funeral services for Lieutenant Charles T. Dixon, armorer at the state armory and widely known military man, were held from the late residence, 80 West O'Reilly street, at 2:15 o'clock this morning and from St. Joseph's Church at 9 o'clock where a requiem mass was offered for the repose of his soul. Lieutenant Dixon was a member of old Company M and served as First Sergeant of that organization during the World War, later being commissioned a lieutenant after attending officers training school while his organization was stationed at Coblenz, Germany, after the close of hostilities. The mass at St. Joseph's Church was conducted by the Rev. Louis M. Cusack of St. Joseph's Church and the Rev. Edmund Burke, assistant pastor, accompanied the remains to St. Mary's cemetery where he pronounced final absolution. Bugler Frank Sass, a close friend of Lieutenant Dixon, who has blown taps over every deceased member of Company M since the World War, sounded taps. A firing squad from the American Legion, consisting of former members of old Company M, fired the volley over their deceased comrade. Bearers were six uniformed members of the 156th Field Artillery of this city.

The funeral services were attended by delegations of military units from various organizations and military units. There was a delegation of St. Vernon veterans, a delegation from Catskill headed by Percy Roe, head of the 51st Pioneer Infantry Association, as well as large delegations from local military and veterans' organizations.

There were numerous floral offerings from military organizations, including one from the employees at the Poughkeepsie armory, veterans from Hempstead, L. I., and New York city veteran organizations. The high esteem in which Lieut. Dixon was held in civil as well as military circles was attested by the great number of spiritual bouquets and Mass cards.

Sunday afternoon Bishop Joseph Rummel of Omaha, formerly of St. Peter's Church, this city, accompanied by the Rev. Joseph D. Osterman of New York city visited the home of deceased. Bishop Rummel officiated at the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Dixon a number of years ago while he was pastor at St. Peter's Church here.

Monday evening the officers of the 156th Field Artillery visited the home to pay their respects to their departed brother. Other visitors were members of the Knights of Columbus, American Legion, Company M Veterans' Association, 151st Pioneer Infantry Association, Members of St. Joseph's Holy Name Society accompanied by their spiritual advisor, the Rev. Edmund Burke, called Monday evening at the house and recited the Rosary. Other visitors at the home were the Rev. Paul Burns of St. Mary's Church and many friends of Mr. Dixon who came to pay their last tribute to a man who was beloved by the young men who had the fortune to be attached to his military organizations before, during and after the World War. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Massive Club Card Party.

A card party will be held Wednesday evening in the Massive Club rooms. There will be refreshments and games start at 8 o'clock.

To the executors, $10,000 in trust, income up to $300 a year to be paid to William E. Bailey of Kingston. To Anna B. Searle of Kingston, $500, otherwise to her daughter, Margaret C. Searle. Remainder of the estate to Stephen T. Courtland and John F. Kelsey, nephews.

YOUNG PRINCESS GETS HUGE FORTUNE TODAY

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—One-third of the Woolworth millions automatically became the property of Princess Mdivani today as the former Princess Mdivani celebrated her 21st birthday anniversary.

The young heiress, married Alexis Mdivani, a prince of Georgia under the Russian czars, last June in Paris. Princess Mdivani is the granddaughter of the five-and-ten-cent store merchant, F. W. Woolworth, who died intestate, leaving an estate estimated at $58,000,000. A share in the estate fell to her at her mother's death.

Barbara's share, it is estimated, is between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000. Her father, Franklin L. Hutton, said today she will have "partial control" over her inheritance. He would not state its size.

MAN SOUGHT HERE FOUND DEAD IN POUGHKEEPSIE

The body of Frank Davis, 76, widely known resident of Poughkeepsie, who had disappeared from his home there two weeks ago and was being sought in Kingston and Ulster county by the authorities, was found Saturday in the heavy underbrush of the vacant area east of Memorial Field and within a mile of his home. The body was found by George Knauss, 7, who was playing in the field with two other boys. The authorities have not determined how long the body had lain where it was found. Due to the cold weather the body was in a comparatively good state of preservation.

LAKE ERIE STEAMER GOES ABOARD OFF CANADIAN SHORE

Long Point, Ont., Nov. 14 (AP)—The steamer D. E. Callender of Cleveland, with a crew of 25 men, went ashore ten miles west of here at 4 a. m. today. The vessel was on a sand bar and was not leaking.

The crew was reported remaining with the ship and in no danger unless a southeast wind should blow up. At 10 a. m. the wind was blowing from the north.

Capt. James Cannally was able to reach shore shortly after 10 a. m. to tell his owners in Cleveland of the accident and asked assistance.

He was informed tugs were dispatched from Buffalo and Erie.

After Independence Filipinos Ask No Guard Quezon Says At Tokyo

If Full Freedom Ever Is Obtained It Is Up to Filipinos to Protect Their Own Interests Without U. S. Aid—Would Consume Military Presence As Depressing Influence.

Tokyo, Nov. 14 (AP)—Manuel Quezon, dominant political figure in the Philippines, declared today that a majority of Filipinos neither expected nor desired American military and naval protection after independence.

Quezon spoke at a luncheon given in his honor by the Pan-Pacific Club. His audience was largely Japanese, but United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew was in attendance.

"If the Philippines ever attain their freedom," Quezon said, "the Filipinos must make up their minds to assume full responsibility for their life as an independent nation."

Quezon came to Tokyo during a few hours halt at Yokohama of the steamer President Hoover on which he is traveling to Washington to appear to President Roosevelt and congress for a new independence act.

Quezon asserted that the Filipinos feel maintenance of American military and naval reservations after independence "would be incompatible with the full independence of our country."

British Counter Move For New Arms Parley Away from Geneva

Follows on Heels of Henderson's Threat to Resign—Will Seek German Representation—Have Decided Upon No Definite Location—British Feel Responsibility to World.

London, Nov. 14 (AP)—On the heels of the threat by Arthur Henderson to resign as president of the disarmament conference came a report in the Daily Mail today that the British government is taking steps to call a further parley elsewhere than at Geneva—with Germany represented.

The Mail's political writer, in a story that was not immediately confirmed by other sources, said the British government has not given up hope of getting Germany back into some kind of disarmament talks.

The thought was, the writer said, that Germany might agree to resume disarmament conversations provided she were not called back to Geneva—which she left so abruptly just one month ago today.

It was added that no place for such a meeting had been decided upon unless Henderson's threat to quit unless governments change their "attitude" toward arms discussions was read to the house of commons last night.

"No results are likely to be achieved by the attitude adopted by delegations at a recent meeting," his personal message said, "and it is useless for me to remain here (at Geneva) for months unless the attitude changes."

Previously, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald had told the house Great Britain was awaiting some move from Germany in regard to disarmament discussions.

"There must be an international agreement," he said, "and if failure comes the British government's duty will be to make it clear to the world on whose shoulders the blame for a break must rest."

A Labor party move for a vote of censure on the government's disarmament course on the ground it did not represent the will of the people was defeated 499 to 54.

No Great Rush for Liquor Licenses

The local beer board reports that there has been no great rush for applications for a license to handle liquors and wine. It was stated that a number of applications have been given out. With the application when filed must be a bond or a written certification that a bond has been applied for together with a photograph of the premises on which the liquors and wine will be sold, and either a lease for the period of the license if granted or proof of ownership of the premises on the part of the applicant. Thursday is the last day for filing applications.

On Friday and continuing until Saturday, November 25, the beer board will issue applications for hotels, clubs and restaurants.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—The position of the treasury on November 21 was receipts $8,670,535.16; expenditures $37,349,438.73; balance $1,316,550,997.45; customs receipts for the month $11,671,419.59. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1) were $1,951,947,222.94; expenditures $1,635,673,198.99 (including $523,456,702.82 emergency relief); excess of expenditures $378,155,975.95.

Next Year's Budget Is Chief Topic at Taxpayers' Meeting

Budget Committee Will Be Largely Increased By Addition of Business Men Who Are Familiar With Accounting and City Affairs.

The question of the budget for the coming year in the city of Kingston was the chief topic of discussion at the monthly meeting of the Kingston Taxpayers' Association, held in the court room at the city hall Monday evening. Jay Terry, president, presiding.

The matter was brought up early in the session when Ernest Hicks reported on the work done by the membership committee, which is conducting a drive for new members. Mr. Hicks said that in seeking new members the committee had stressed the fact that the association would take an active interest in checking up on the various items in the budget soon to be submitted to the Common Council. He added that there seemed to be a general interest in this subject on the part of the public and called upon E. P. Ward of the budget committee to give his ideas on the subject.

Mr. Ward said that he believed that the main object of the meeting this evening should be to formulate plans for a study of the items to be submitted by the various city departments, which would go to make up the budget for next year. He said that the committee wanted to avoid any impression that this was an antagonistic campaign, or that there was any desire to eliminate any necessary functions of the city. The one thought was to have the taxpayers spend the utmost value for money spent. He referred to an incident in the city of Buffalo when a taxpayer, who was unable to secure consideration of certain plans because he represented no one but himself, went out and organized an association of 13,000 members, which, it was claimed, was instrumental in reducing the city budget by $1,000,000.

To Increase Budget Committee

In order that a constructive program might be worked out Mr. Ward suggested that the budget committee be largely increased by the addition of business men, who were familiar with accounting and city affairs, to help study costs and other matters and decide what projects, if any, could be cut.

Chauncey Lane, chairman of the budget committee, spoke briefly on the importance of a study of the budget, which involved a matter of several hundred thousand dollars.

In reply to a suggestion that the budget committee be authorized to call in what help they needed, including the aid of accountants, Mr. Ward said that the giving of such blanket authority to spend money was one of the things the Taxpayers' Association was opposing. He asked that a limit be placed on the amount the committee was authorized to spend.

The meeting passed a motion commending the budget committee for its sincere, honest work and authorizing it to make such additions to its membership as it wished. It was also authorized to expend up to $50 in securing necessary information.

Committee "Never Were Invited"

The old question as to what has become of the proposed charter amendments submitted to the Common Council, referred to a committee at the last meeting of the association for investigation, came up on a report by F. Richter, a member of the committee. Mr. Richter said that the committee hadn't accomplished much. That they "were to be invited to a meeting of the Common Council committee, but never were invited."

A suggestion by Andrew Ferguson that the matter had gone so long it would be a good thing to let it go and "try the next administration," brought Ralph Mann to his feet with a protest against "political insinuations."

Mr. Ward said that he thought the suggestion to drop the question of charter amendments for the present was a good one. He moved that the committee on legislative and city affairs, Elmer E. Swart, chairman, make a study of the charter and that such changes as they might find desirable be submitted to the new administration for action. The motion was adopted.

Failed to Get Credit

There was some protest over the failure to give the Taxpayers' Association credit for what had been accomplished. The matter of allowing payment of taxes in two instalments was cited as something that had been brought up and carried through by the association. The plan had not been adopted as originally presented, but this, it was stated, was because modification was necessary in order to allow the city to meet certain financial demands.

E. P. Ward announced that at a recent meeting of the Ulster County Society of Professional Engineers the society had taken a position that it would be pleased to give any assistance desired in passing upon the relative importance of projects suggested for work relief, such as suggestions of water supply, sewers, curbing, etc. They would take this action if the association would formulate questions which it wished answered. On motion Mr. Ward moved that the association send a letter to the Society of Professional Engineers.

Several other matters were discussed and the meeting adjourned.

Kerhokson Man's Estate Appraised

New York, Nov. 13 (Special).—The estate of Frederick E. F. Sandhagen, who died in Kerhokson on July 18, 1932, was appraised here today by the New York state Transfer Tax Department at $942,461 gross value, $550,666 net. Mr. Sandhagen was a general partner in the firm of Pasa and Company, dry goods factors and commission merchants, of 440 Fourth Avenue, New York, and the bulk of his property consisted of stock in the company.

After bequeathing $45,500 to New York charities, Mr. Sandhagen distributed his residuary estate among the seven children of his sister, Emma Elizabeth d'Orville, living in Berlin, Germany. Legacies of $10,000 each go to Katherine Pemberton and Louis Watson, Jr., of Greenwich, Conn. Two residents of Haverhill, N. J., Elizabeth and Eugene Mason, receive $1,500 each. The Central Haverhill Bank and Trust Company and Alfred H. Rust are named executors.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Nov. 13.—Reynolds Bishop of New York city spent Sunday with Mrs. Bishop at the Bishop home near the corner.

Rudolph DeSilva, Bolcerville storekeeper, is reported to have shot a big buck Sunday. Rudolph's deer is the first one known to have been brought in by a local hunter this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cruthers of Ridgeland Park, N. J., have been spending a few days at their country place opposite the Shokan schoolhouse.

Work on the new county road project was suspended last Friday. It is expected that operations will be resumed as soon as the state relief bond issue becomes effective. The talk is that all men who have been employed on relief work will be given work at $50 per month regardless of weather conditions.

At an all day Home Bureau meeting held at the residence of Mrs. Benjamin VanSteenburgh on Thursday, November 9, the first and second lessons of the course on foundation patterns were taken up by the members. Mrs. James Burgher of Shokan was project leader on this occasion. Visitors present at the meeting were Mrs. Lemuel DuBois, Ashokan; Mrs. Charles Slicker, Port Ewen, and Mrs. Augustus Green of Shokan.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Ashokan M. E. Church will hold an oyster supper in the church hall on Friday evening, November 24.

Frank Mikitch of the conservation corps camp at Bolcerville spent a two-days furlough in New York city last week.

Harry Braithwaite's numerous friends in the village are glad to see the enterprising west end farmer and nurseryman out again after an illness of several weeks.

November 12, 1935, the funeral took place of Mrs. William V. N. Boice, a resident of the west side of the Esopus Creek. Mrs. Boice before her marriage was a member of the Davis family at Bolcerville. She was an aunt of the late Millard Davis, Sr., of Kerhokson. Her husband and Peter Boice, later of Kingston, were sons of Mr. and Mrs. Boice and at one time were associated with their father in the general merchandising, tannery, sawmill and farming industries at Samsouville. W. V. N. Boice was a brother of Lemuel Boice, father of the late Sheriff Zadoc P. Boice, and of John P. Boice, father of Henry Boice of Phoenixia, both of whom also were leading sawmill operators in the town of Olive.

'Dress Up, Dixie—Roosevelt's Coming'—Bound For Warm Springs Vacation

Georgia is polishing up her "Welcome" signs, eager to greet President Roosevelt on his return for a vacation at Warm Springs. Already there's activity around the little "White House" (above) in the resort where the President has been a frequent visitor. Chief event of his visit will be the dedication of Georgia Hall, a new building at the Springs, in his honor. He is expected there November 18.

town today for Florida by automobile.

Justus and Earl North of the North Construction Company, have completed an artistically designed and expertly constructed fireplace in the administration building at Camp No. 2, C. C. C. The fireplace and chimney, in the officers' mess hall, is faced with boulder-shaped native field stone and the hearth is laid with irregular flat stone slabs, separated by wide cement pointing. The North brothers have built many fine fireplaces in homes throughout Olive and neighboring townships.

Perry Davis of Atwood has begun making deliveries of stove-wood in the twin villages with his big truck.

Fred Weeks, Jr., spent the weekend at his home on the mountain road.

Mrs. Augustus Green has returned from a trip to Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leyder and three children attended the Diamond Jubilee service at St. Peter's Church in Kingston Sunday.

Burtis Wheat, local fuel dealer, is hauling coal for delivery to his customers from the New York Central railroad yard at West Hurley.

A meeting of the Shokan unit of the Home Bureau will be held at the home of Mrs. Chester Lyons in Ashokan Tuesday afternoon, November 27, beginning at 2 o'clock. At this meeting the first of the lessons on craft will be conducted by Miss Evelyn Nance, county Home Bureau agent.

Elmer Bedell's wood-choppers are cutting on one of the Bogart lots near Tice Ten Eyck Mountain.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Nadal of Poughkeepsie spent the week-end at the home of Mr. Nadal's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Baptiste Nadal.

A local marriage on November 14, 1877, was that which united George H. Chase of the town of Hurley to Bertha Moe of Olive. The wedding ceremony was performed at the Shokan M. E. Church parsonage by the Rev. Thomas S. Bond, and witnesses to the nuptials were Emmeline Winchell and Eliza Bond.

Three inches of snow fell here Saturday night and most of it remained on the ground over Sunday despite the warm sunshine which caused it to quickly disappear from the state road and boulevard. Deer hunters, mindful of the opportunity for good tracking, were abroad in greater numbers than on any previous day of the open season. The deer were lying low, however, and many a visiting Nimrod was mighty glad to get back to his car after hours of heavy walking in the hills back of Shokan.

Mrs. Herman Wendt and son, Herman, Jr., have closed their place on the state road for the winter and will leave today for New York city. The Wendts have made many friends in the village since coming to Shokan last spring as summer residents and business people.

Lewis Thiel, enterprising Main street poultryman and trustee of school district No. 4, has stored away his large crop of mangels. Mr. Thiel feeds a large portion of these vegetables to his fine flock of Black Minorca hens as an appetizer and egg-laying stimulus.

HONOR ROLL STUDENTS AT SHANDAKEN SCHOOL

WOULD YOU BUY THIS RADIO TODAY?

YOU NEED NOT BUY THAT KIND OF AUTOMATIC HEATING EITHER

This is the day of the complete, coordinated unit—the G-E Oil Furnace

THE RADIO above was the last word in a receiving set about 10 years ago. Today it is almost a museum piece—just a funny collection of parts hooked up together.

You wouldn't think of paying your hard-earned money for it—even though it might be offered at a fraction of the price of a modern, complete unit set.

Do you see what we are driving at when we use that as an example to guide you in your choice of automatic heating? You can choose an attachment for your old boiler—or you can have the G-E Oil Furnace. Which would you prefer? Which would cost you least to own? You're almost certain to have the wrong answer for the latter question. Because in spite of the downright luxury of the G-E Oil Furnace it is saving owners 20% to 50% on their fuel bills. One reason for this is that it burns cheap oil efficiently.

What is more, it burns the oil completely, without soot, smoke or odor. You have dependable operation, because of the complete system of automatic G-E controls.

You have no ups and downs of temperature, as with ordinary automatic heating. The G-E Thermal Control is so sensitive, that it keeps the temperature at an unusually even level.

Heat comes up within a few minutes after it is called for because the boiler water is always hot. The domestic water switch keeps it that way.

Another vitally important thing about the G-E Oil Furnace is its adaptability. It comes in two sizes, and may be installed in multiple. Therefore, its use is not confined to moderate-sized homes alone. It is doing the same efficient job in great big homes, as well as in small apartment, office and factory buildings.

To insure perfect installations, the work is supervised by the dealer's engineers who have been factory-trained.

Steam, vapor or hot-water heating—it makes no difference—this furnace handles them all. Takes care of warm-air heated homes, too, as part of the General Electric Air Conditioning System.

Installation is made quickly—before your furnace gets old.

Save yourself regrets by seeing the G-E Oil Furnace before making up your mind. Write for free information

HAVE JUNE WEATHER ALL WINTER

Winter Air Conditioning on a complete floor is now possible at a cost of not more than $300. Summer air conditioning, too, or year-round air conditioning, available for one room, or a series of rooms, or the entire house, at far less cost than you imagine. Within a few years the home without air conditioning will be as far behind the times as is the home without a furnace today. While you are getting the facts about the G-E Oil Furnace, let us tell you about G-E Air Conditioning as well.

Duke Of Atholl Says On Trial Lottery Idea "Came From Heaven"

Over World on Violation of 27th-year-old Lottery Law Announces Divorce Nature of His Scheme to Assist Charities and Individuals—Did Not Like Sweepstakes Money Flowing to Ireland.

London, Nov. 14 (A.P.)—The Duke of Atholl formally pleaded not guilty today at a hearing on the summons alleging sale of a ticket in a lottery contrary to the lottery act.

"The duke honestly believes," said his lawyer, Norman Birrell, "that apparently he has invented a method enabling him to get around the provisions of the lottery act which hitherto has stood the test of 270 years."

Crowds jammed Bow street and rushed the doors of the police court where as the duke and duchess arrived in their limousine.

The hearing, for which the main room in Bow street police court was set aside, was expected to last several days with the chief metropolitan magistrate, Sir Rollo Graham Campbell, presiding.

Behind the summons against the 56-year-old duke lay the story of a scheme launched by him to save for British hospitals a portion of the 10-shilling notes that annually find their way to Ireland for the sweepstakes.

Sweepstakes are banned in England, but he conceived the idea of a "British Helpers Association Appeal" in connection with the 1933 St. George's—the association being formed to raise funds for the provision of the best medical treatment for people of moderate means, in general. This enterprise was stopped on instructions of the home office, the outstanding tickets were recalled and on July 15, after consultation with legal experts, a new fund was inaugurated when the duke appealed to "a million sportsmen and sportswomen" to send him 10 shillings each to spend at his absolute discretion.

Parents Appeal To Son's Kidnapers

San Jose, Calif., Nov. 14 (A.P.)—Hopes for the return of Brooke L. Hart were pinned by his parents here today on a public appeal to his kidnapers to establish contact.

Only one condition, that the kidnapers give proof they have the 22-year-old store executive, was imposed in the appeal issued at the Hart home last night.

In copies handed to newspapermen, the parents over their signatures, Alex J. Hart and Nettie B. Hart, gave their pledge that all negotiations will be confidential and that no "outside interference" will be allowed.

EDDYVILLE MEN TO MEET THIS EVENING

Tonight the Men's Club of the Eddyville M. E. Church will meet in the lecture room of the church for its regular monthly business meeting and social. The Rev. Robert Baines, pastor of the East Kingston M. E. Church, will address the men on an appropriate topic. At the close of the business session light refreshments will be served, after which a short program will be given. Dart baseball will be played. Men of the community are cordially invited.

The Federated Council of the Parent-Teacher Association will meet in the Kingston High School on Friday afternoon at 5:15 o'clock. A large attendance is urged.

NEWEST HATS SIT ON BACK OF HEAD

Off-the-Face Movement Gaining Ground.

Just when the order of the day for hats appeared to be irrevocably down in front, along comes a perverse breeze of fashion and blows them back again. Just now, some of the newest hats are worn projecting on the back of the head in the manner of the dear, dead fapper days, when it was considered as much of a crime to cover your forehead as it was to uncover your ears.

The off-the-face movement is gaining ground, though there are still plenty of the perky berets and brimmed felts that are worn pulled smartly down over the right eye.

Most of the new off-the-face hats have brim arrangements that turn back, revealing your alabaster brow. A nice one is of goldenrod velvet felt, turned up in front in a soft, Dutch cap manner, with a tailored bow of navy grosgrain ribbon on top.

TUNICS AND BELTS By CHERIE NICHOLAS

There's no getting around it, one simply must own a tunic frock or more this season. It is not only that the separate tunic made of some rich lame, lace or perhaps plaid velvet is functioning for formal wear but many of the best styled street dresses are made with a tunic. The model pictured is of black faille with gilt buttons (gold touches on black are a "last word" in chic). The belt of black and red antelope is studded with gilt nailheads. Which is really what we started out to tell you about—the vogue for hand-some decorative belts which necessarily goes hand-in-hand with the tunic craze which is now on, for of course a tunic must be attractively belted. With the voguish metal cloth tunics worn over a skirt of black velvet, a belt studded with rhinestones will prove wonderfully effective in the evening.

Taffeta With Organdie

Used for Gowns, Gloves
Taffeta takes the cake for afternoon smartness. Trimmed up with organdie it is as brisk and crisp as a fresh breeze. All the big houses are advocating it and complete their ensembles with a pair of taffeta gloves trimmed with lavish cuffs (amounting to sleeves in some extremes) of organdie. The favored colors are navy blue and brown with a bit of that dull olive green which Patou is promoting this year.

Next to solid colors there are gay taffetas in bright plaids, and for a place of distinction in this place we name "Chouky," a Worth conception in a large black and white plaid taffeta built on tunic lines. For its trimming it has a black velvet bow and black velvet buttons down the front.

STYLE NOTES

Old-gold jewelry is in fashion. Much bronze green is featured. There is a wide call for ribbed velvets.

Fur-trimmed sheer crepe frocks are smart for afternoon.

Accessory for ensembles of tulle variety will be worn.

Butterscotch is a popular sports color as is also bright rust.

Evening dresses are made to emphasize the elongated silhouette.

Tweeds Much in Evidence for Milady's Fall Suits

Tweeds are very much in evidence this season, also angora woolsens with stripes or wavy surfaces. There are checks, faconne and nattes woolsens, hairy woolsens, lame woolsens, velvet woolsens with faconnes and ribbed effects, tricots in hand-made wool and rayon Albee, velvets with printed stripes, rayon panne Payson and ribbed jerseys on diagonals. For evening wear panne Sauvage, lame, lame velvet, crepe and ottoman are shown.

"Once in a Blue Moon"

Under varying conditions the moon appears to be of different colors. It has never appeared to be of a blue color and hence "once in a blue moon" may be taken to mean that the occurrence referred to in the expression will most likely never happen.

LITVINOFF AND RUSSIA.

News accounts of Maxim Litvinoff's arrival in Washington tell of his genial bearing. He is described as "chuckling" when news photographers ask for "just one more picture." Can anyone imagine a representative of Germany looking so genial and chuckling at any time, much less when on a diplomatic mission of such delicacy and importance as that which brings the Russian to our country? This suggests other contrasts between Hitler's Germany and Litvinoff's Russia.

In the years following the World War, European and American feeling and thinking about Germany changed greatly. Hatred and distrust gave way to sympathy and good will. Little by little Germany's recalcitrant enemies were becoming more friendly and were removing some of the burdensome penalties imposed on her by the Versailles peace treaty. Then Hitler appeared on the scene shouting defiance, arousing prejudices, re-awakening the old fears and animosities of other nations. If the world is again Germany's enemy, it is because of Hitler.

In these same years, Russia, too, was feared and hated. Her Communist government was regarded as a world peril. Gradually, however, the Russian government modified its aggressive attitude, abandoned its policy of world revolution, sought to establish new friendships and mutually beneficial contacts with other peoples. A genial, chuckling diplomat goes from capital to capital, from conference to conference, always expressing good will, seeking cooperation, winning admiration for himself and at least tolerance for his government. The two nations, the two men and the world's attitude toward them afford a striking lesson in psychology and diplomacy.

GOLD AND DYNAMITE

Another sign of the times. Denver authorities are trying to stop the careless trucking of explosives through the streets. The safety director says, "Some drivers have been hauling sticks of dynamite around as if they were so many pieces of macaroni." Sticks of dynamite are funny. The stuff looks like brown sugar, and even tastes a little like it. You can light it with a match and it will burn harmlessly in the air. But pound or jolt it, and it will blow up everything in the neighborhood.

The real story is what the dynamite is used for. It's for gold mining. Back in the hills miners are busy again, as they were decades ago, prospecting for new veins and starting again to work known lodes long discontinued. The higher price of gold now makes their operation profitable. All signs point to a big revival of the gold industry. Old and new prospectors are busy all through the Rockies and the California ranges. Jobless city folk and farmers, too, are panning gravel in many a creek bed, east and west, north and south. There is probably some gold mining now in half the states of the Union. If the work yields day's wages, it's worth while.

The economic effect of this revival may be great. Probably nothing would bring so healthful inflation of currency and prices as a big increase in the gold supply. More thorough working of marginal deposits, by large numbers of miners, might do again what rich gold discoveries did in the past.

COLUMBUS'S MISTAKE.

Here is an interesting news item from Seville, Spain. "Prof. Romulo Carbia of Argentina said yesterday in an interview that he was 'convinced that Columbus's discovery of America was purely accidental, and history was fainthearted to cover the fact that he did not suspect the existence of a new world.' The news, to us North Americans, isn't in any new revelation, but rather in the fact that a South American professor should be so naïve as to think he had a new revelation, and that anyone in Spain would be impressed by it. Don't our school children still learn in their history classes, as we grow-ups did, that Columbus died in prison in Spain because he had found a new world?

The great discoverer, of course, was looking for Asia when he ran into America. He and his immediate successors evidently thought they had reached India, or the East Indies. Hence the name "Indians" which they gave to the natives, and which has been a cause of confusion ever since. We need not hold it against Columbus, though. Most of the world's great explorers, in all fields, have blundered into their most valuable discoveries while looking for something else. Many of our great inventions came that way.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY
James W. Barton, M. D.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

One of the mistakes physicians (including myself) have made in the past was in letting the patient know his blood pressure, particularly when the pressure was high.

Now to have blood pressure above normal may be the best thing possible for you, as your blood pressure rises because it needs to rise to overcome various obstacles and supply every part of your body with blood.

Similarly with temperature. Many patients with an increased temperature are very anxious to get the temperature lowered by the use of drugs—salicyl, phenacetin, acetanilid, aspirin, quinine—when as a matter of fact the increased temperature simply shows that the body is fighting some ailment.

Thus we find that patients who have been told they have high blood pressure learn to think of blood pressure as being a measure of the state of their health and so if it is high when they consult their physician, they feel just that much worse.

If your blood pressure happens to be high it may be just a temporary or passing condition, but if you let it worry you, then it will keep high because of your worry, and every time you consult your physician he will find it high.

The first thought then in these cases of increased blood pressure is to make sure that there is not some real trouble such as hardening of the arteries, some kidney or other ailment. If no such condition exists the patient is given no treatment whatever by the physician and told to "forget" about blood pressure. The fact that no treatment is given reassures the patient.

If however the blood pressure is increased because of some real or permanent trouble in the body then a "right way of living" is outlined for the patient, which if followed faithfully, should give him many years of useful life.

While there are various drugs in use for lowering the pressure in these cases, the chief reliance, to avoid symptoms and prolong life, is placed on proper living habits—rest periods during the day, increased hours of sleep, shielding patient from worry, keeping bowels lax with Epsom or other salts, diet low enough to give strength without increasing weight, light open air exercise.

So whether the increased blood pressure is due to passing or permanent conditions, a right way of living should prevent trouble.

FORBIDDEN VALLEY

by William Byron Price

Chapter Two DANGEROUS JOB

THE rest of his old officer went a warm glow through Curt. During those seven years with the Police, Marlin had been his best friend, a kind of second father to him. His engagement to Rosalie seemed a fitting climax to the understanding friendship between her father and himself.

"It's mighty good to see you again, son," Marlin greeted, with a strong handshake. "You're looking as fit as a high-power rifle. The North must have agreed with you tremendously."

Rosalie tilted into the next room to dress. As the two chatted for a few moments in the casual way of men who once had been very close to each other but had drifted apart, Marlin studied Curt searchingly.

"How did you get this data?" asked Marlin.

Ically as in spirit. As head of intelligence for the western divisions, he had led a hard life, fraternizing with gangster circles, following trails to European capitals, and living for months with the narcotic traffickers on the west coast.

Three years of that work usually put a man on the rocks; but Tonyson had been in daily contact with it, and the very worst of it, for seven years. Besides nearly wrecking his health, it had distorted his whole outlook. He had seen so much of crime, he had looked down into depths of depravity so long and so steadily, that he had lost faith in human virtues.

"Thank God, you've come out of it, son!" Marlin thought fervently. For he saw that Curt had completely shaken off that malaise. A year in the far North prospecting, flying, hunting the gray phantom packs, had put him in shape again.

"Haven't had breakfast, Curt?" he asked. "Neither have I. Let's go down. We can talk there. He took a document from a locked brief case and thrust it into his pocket. 'Rosalie'll excuse us; she has hers sent up.'"

As they went down the corridor he inquired, "What sort of an offer did the Consolidated make you, son?"

"Oh, nothing to write home about," Curt stalled, wanting to find out first what Marlin's "proposition" was. "It's just fair, and rather unexpected."

"When would you have to be on the job with them?"

"By the end of this week. The ice is out now, and the summer in that country is so short that every day counts."

Marlin said nothing more just then. They went down to the breakfast room, found a window table to themselves. When the waiter had brought their coffee and taken their order, Marlin dropped a lump of snow into his cup and thoughtfully watched the bubbles come up.

He could see that Curt was eager about the Consolidated job, and for several reasons he hated to break into those plans. As he well knew, Curt's horrid job at Black Mountain farm had been harsh and exigent; he had given seven years to

STROKES OF GENIUS

"GENERAL SHERMAN"

TEN years of difficult labor was required to complete the statue of General Sherman that guards the southern entrance to Central Park in New York. The golden group of the mounted commander on his march through Georgia to the sea, symbolically led by a beautiful Winged Victory, is one of the most impressive monuments in the city. It was begun by Augustus St. Gaudens, America's greatest sculptor in 1892, although General Sherman posed for the head in 1867.

TOMORROW: A FALLING APPLE THAT REVEALED NATURE'S GREATEST FORCE

Politics at Random

By BRYON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

NO ONE who has had firsthand contact with the western farm unrest doubts its potential seriousness.

There is real concern in Washington about the possibility that the administration will lose so much prestige in the farm belt that the whole recovery program will suffer greatly.

The failure of the five western governors to get their price-control plan approved does not mean that President Roosevelt underestimates the change which has taken place in western sentiment. His veto of the plan was based largely on apprehension that it would cause more trouble elsewhere.

The speaking trips of General Johnson and other administration stalwarts into the west show the importance Washington attaches to the defections there.

Rural Skepticism
THERE is evidence in local communities that many farmers who probably never would join a strike nevertheless are growing skeptical of the success of the Roosevelt relief plan, which depends for results on a large measure of farmer support.

The owner of the largest ranch in one western state recently told government officials he was 30 per cent worse off than he was a year ago and that the administration must expect plenty of political reaction in that section.

That hurts. Loss of confidence in the farm plan might lead to loss of confidence in the recovery scheme generally as well as an undermining of the western democratic-insurgent coalition formed in the last campaign.

SOME farm communities are showing signs of the beginning of that prohibition reaction which everyone realized would develop, in greater or less degree, in the wake of repeal.

One Indiana agricultural county, so dry in past years that it never had a saloon, has discovered a night club operating in the small county seat. It goes on operating, too, in spite of the indignation of many of the farm neighbors.

The 'Honeymoon's' Over

Business Is Better
That the retail business has taken a definite upswing is evident from the reports of sales of the Grand Union Company, just released. This company reports sales volume of $2,861,473 for the five weeks ending November 4, 1933, as compared with sales of $2,707,288 for the same period of 1932. This is an increase of 5.7 per cent.

1932-33 County Egg Laying Contest Is Summarized

The 1932-33 Ulster County 4-H Egg Laying Contest has closed with Joseph O'Brien, Sartox, topping the list for all breeds.

The 4-H members entering laying flocks who enter the contest are requested to send a report of the number of eggs laid each month to the county club agent. Twenty-seven boys with a total of 1,251 White Leghorn pullets or hens entered the contest. At the close of the contest there were 975 hens and the number of eggs laid was 117,592. Joseph O'Brien's flock was high for White Leghorns. Six boys entered Rhode Island Reds, with 161 Rhode Island Reds at the beginning of the contest and 128 at the close. 11,335 eggs were laid. Wesley Smith, Churchland, was high for this breed. Six boys also entered Wyandottes, the record being 22,903 eggs. There were 283 hens at the beginning and 224 at the close. Robert Morehouse, Lake Katrine, held high record for White Wyandottes. Nine boys had mixed breeds. Starting with 428 and ending with 385, these pullets and hens laid 15,672 eggs. Five boys entered 200 Banded Plymouth Rocks. Their egg production was 4,110. Ralph Tice, Spring Glen, topping this list.

At the end of 12 months the following boys had the greatest production for pullets:

Name and Address	Breed	No. of Pullets at beg. at end	No. eggs average produced
Joseph O'Brien, Sartox	W.L.	15 12	3,535 260
Clarence Quick, Kerhonkson	W.L.	50 42	11,934 251
George Schneider, St. Remy	W.L.	25 25	8,104 249
Robert Brown, Walkkill	Buff Orp.	7 4	1,413 242
Wesley Smith, Churchland	R.I.R.	25 18	4,771 235

Those receiving honorable mention are: Carl Mikesch, St. Remy (W.L.); Ward Tice, Spring Glen (W.L.); Robert Morehouse, Lake Katrine (W. Wyn.); Edgar Cronk, Walkkill (W.L.); Ralph Tice, Spring Glen (B. P. R.).

Those having greatest production for hens during the 12 months are: Culver TenBroeck, Jr., Lake Katrine, White Leghorns, with 35 hens at beginning of contest and 25 at the end producing 4,869 eggs and a flock average of 172. Carl Mikesch, St. Remy, White Leghorns, had 10 hens at the beginning and seven at the end of the contest. These birds produced 1,388 eggs giving them a flock average of 143. Honorable mention goes to Ralph Tice, Spring Glen, who has Banded Plymouth Rock hens.

Honorable mention also goes to the following 4-H members who reported for 11 months: Joseph Hasbrouck, Modena; James Heimlich, St. Remy; and to William White, Lake Katrine, and Charles White, St. Remy, who reported for 10 months.

A good deal of interest has been aroused in the production of 4-H poultry flocks. All 4-H poultry club members who have laying flocks are urged to keep records of production and to enter the 1933-34 Ulster County 4-H Egg Laying Contest which is just beginning. Members who have entered the contest are: White Leghorns—Watson Bailey, Rifton; Gordon Boies, Lake Katrine; Theodore Garrison, Walkkill; Arnold Jacobson, Stone Ridge; John McCord, Walkkill; Carl Mikesch, St. Remy; Harry Mitchell, Rifton; Harry Mitchell, Rifton; Ralph S. Penny, Walkkill; Clarence Quick, Kerhonkson; and Culver TenBroeck, Jr., Lake Katrine. Rhode Island Reds—Robert Morehouse, Lake Katrine; Wesley Smith, Churchland; Wyandottes—Lindsay Hoyt, Mt. Tremper; and Robert Morehouse, Lake Katrine. All other breeds—William Gaynor, Woodstock; Frank Haas, Walkkill; Wilson Hoyt, Mt. Tremper.

HISTORIAN CLAIMS NAPOLEON A BRETON

Says He Was Born in Brittany, Not Corsica.

Marble, Brittany.—Napoleon was not a Corsican but a Breton, born not in the Italian island which just before his birth became French, but in Brittany.

This, according to Louis Beaufre, specialist in Breton history. His statement of his case in the periodical Le Breton, a flying all other biographies and historians, is in substance as follows:

Napoleon was born in the Chateau of Penmarc'h, near Morlaix. His mother was Laetitia Bonaparte, nee Ramolino, and his father was Louis Charles, Count de Marbeuf, one time governor of Corsica. Marbeuf was fifty at the time, Laetitia only eighteen.

Less than a year after their marriage Napoleon was born and duly inscribed in the records of the parish of Saint-Eve. But the page containing the entry has been torn from the register.

That the Count de Marbeuf was Napoleon's father was asserted by royalist propagandists as far back as the first empire. Marbeuf's friendship with the Bonaparte family was well known and until his death he showed an affectionate interest in "his son." It was due to Marbeuf that Napoleon was able to enter the military school at Brienne. This fact is proved by historical documents.

In further support of his curious theory historian Beaufre mentions Napoleon's protection of the Marbeuf family. Mme. de Marbeuf, widow of the emperor's supposed father, was made a baroness and given an annual pension of 15,000 pounds. Also her son Francois—Napoleon's half brother, if Beaufre's theory be true—became one of the emperor's favorite aides de camp. Napoleon even arranged the marriage of Francois with a rich heiress of Lyons and gave her a diamond necklace on her wedding day.

The exact date of Napoleon's birth is in dispute and the emperor was very touchy about the matter. This would seem to help the theory that he may have been born in Brittany. It is also possible that the Count de Marbeuf and Laetitia fled to Brittany.

At any rate, travelers are now being shown a bedroom in the chateau of Penmarc'h where Napoleon Bonaparte may have been born.

Campaign for Uniform Motor Law Progresses

Washington.—The movement for uniform basic regulations governing automobile traffic rapidly is gaining headway, according to statistics compiled by the American Automobile association.

The A. A. A. summary shows that much legislation toward this end was enacted in the legislature meetings in 44 states this year.

"With regard to registration," the report says, "it can be said that as a general rule, a motorist who has complied with the registration and license laws of his own state will have few difficulties. This applies even to the visitor in states requiring an operator's license of their own residents."

In six states—namely, California, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Washington, and West Virginia—a non-resident must secure a driver's license. A visitor in the latter three states, however, need not secure a license to drive his own car if he resides in a state where all operators are licensed after an examination.

Speaking of speed laws, the association points out that the regulations vary from 25 miles per hour limit in Missouri to 50 miles in North Dakota. Nineteen states have discarded the idea of a set speed limit, substituting a "reasonable and proper speed" that speed depending on conditions under which the car is being driven. Thirteen of the states fixing definite maximums stipulate 45 miles per hour and eight make it 40.

Chemist Announces War Gas of Deadly Quality

Paris.—A war gas so deadly that its discoverer intends to keep it secret, even from the war office, except in case of a defensive conflict, was announced by Dr. Leonce Bert, director of the Clermont-Ferrand Chemical Institute.

Bert said the gas was the most formidable known. It was discovered, he said, while he and another institute doctor were experimenting with synthetic perfumes.

They concocted, he explained, a celery-scented, fume-giving liquid, against which no gas mask, as they are known now, or other means of protection, would be effective.

The gas attacks dry as well as moist flesh, Bert said. It penetrates any sort of clothing and produces lightning-like disintegration of body cells.

Census Shows Americans Abroad Total 420,000

Washington.—According to the annual world census drawn up by the State department, more than 420,000 Americans citizens reside permanently abroad, with 242,101 living in Canada and Newfoundland.

The others are distributed as follows: Europe, 93,780; Asia, 24,773; West Indies and Bermuda, 21,008; Mexico and Central America, 18,387; South America, 11,774; Africa, 3,908; Australia, 1,413; Fiji Island and Society Islands, 104.

TWIN IGNITION in a Low-Priced Car

1934 Nash Big Six Brougham, $795, f. o. b. Kenosha, Wis.

1934 NASH

EVERYBODY expected Nash to do something brilliant in designing the 1934 Nash—and sure enough, the new Nash "Speedstream" style simply sparkles with grace, smartness and good taste.

And everybody expected Nash to step out and go the limit in making its 1934 models crowning examples of motoring luxury.

But who would have thought it possible for Nash or any manufacturer to go so far as to power the lowest-priced models of a new line like the higher-priced models, with Twin Ignition valve-in-head motors?

That's exactly what Nash has done—in spite of rising manufacturing costs—in spite of the greater cost of building a Twin Ignition valve-in-head motor—and in spite of the fact that Twin Ignition never before has been engineered into a car selling under $1200!

There's almost a magic difference between a motor car with Twin Ignition and one without it. You can feel the difference in smoothness—and tests reveal the big difference of 22% more power, 5 more miles an hour top speed and 2 more miles to a gallon of gasoline!

Nash for 1934 has just about everything—including a new improved type of built-in draftless ventilation, providing unobstructed vision—a new synchro-shift transmission with all gears quiet at all speeds—and a new coincidental starter—everything to give Nash the edge in any comparison. See Nash before you say "Yes" in deciding on any new car.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 14 (AP).—Stocks and grains edged forward today although they exhibited only mild enthusiasm for another boost in the domestic gold rate and a sharp decline of the dollar in foreign exchange markets.

The R. F. C. lifted the gold price 11 cents an ounce to $35.56, at which figure the dollar had a theoretical value of 61.55 cents. Sterling jumped 14 cents to a new postwar high of $5.29, and the French franc spurted 16 of a cent to 4.47 cents. In terms of the franc the dollar was valued at about 65.55 cents. Equities started a half-hour apart, then quieted down. Grains were up around a cent a bushel and cotton moved about $1 a bale. Silver futures were again strong. Federal bonds sagged and other loans were irregular.

While most board rooms expected a wave of optimism during the early trading, bullish advice was rather restrained and many operators continued to adhere to a cautious policy in making commitments. There was an apparent disposition to wait for a clarification of the administration's monetary program.

Foreign exchange bankers, who have been closely studying the currency problem, especially in its relation to the dollar and sterling, are convinced that the constant advance of the gold price has contributed much to the recent buoyancy of the pound.

Renewed interest in the oil was attributed largely to the belief that the industry is now under practical control for the first time in a number of years. Some petroleum analysts feel that earnings of several of the companies will continue to improve as wasteful production is halted and price levels steadied under the recovery codes which bar unfair competition.

RESIDENCE OF JOHN KNOR AT GLENVIEW DESTROYED

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Knor in Mountain View Park, Glenview, was totally destroyed by fire about 5 o'clock Sunday morning.

The fire is believed to have started from a short circuit. The Knors were awakened by the smell of smoke. A call for help was responded to by the T. B. Cornwell Fire Company of Saugerties, but the house was practically destroyed when they arrived. The house was a large one, embracing living quarters of the family, a ball room, restaurant, garage and other rooms. The loss is partially covered by insurance. Other buildings on the property owned by Mr. Knor were not destroyed.

Meeting is Postponed.

The meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the Fair Street Reformed Church that was to have been held Wednesday as told elsewhere, has been postponed for one week.

Supervisors Meet Under Election Law to Canvass Vote of General Election Held Last Tuesday.

Pursuant to the election law, the board of supervisors met at noon today as a board of county canvassers to canvass the vote cast at the general election held last Tuesday.

J. Charles Snyder, president of the board, called the meeting to order. There were 15 supervisors present.

On motion of Supervisor Lamoureux of Saugerties, seconded by Supervisor Lyons of Olive, Edward M. Stanbrough of the Twelfth ward, was elected chairman of the county board of canvassers for the year 1933.

Mr. Snyder appointed Supervisors Lamoureux and Feeney a committee to escort the newly elected chairman to the platform. The constitutional oath was administered to Mr. Stanbrough by Mr. Snyder, and in turn Mr. Stanbrough administered the oath to Mr. Snyder and the members of the board.

After a five minute recess Mr. Stanbrough announced the following committee:

On examining returns—Supervisors Lamoureux, Britt and Charlton.

On reading returns—Supervisors Cullum, Feeney and Clark.

On tabulating returns—Supervisors Finch, Campbell and Williams.

A recess was taken until 2 o'clock to permit the committee on examining returns to make the necessary examination and report.

Supervisors Begin Annual Sessions

The annual sessions of the board of supervisors will commence this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the court house. The session this evening will be brief as the meeting of the Supervisors' Association will be held at 8 o'clock.

Supervisor Oliver Keator of Rosendale has resigned as a member of the board and Weston Clark has been appointed to fill out the unexpired term. Mr. Clark attended his first session today when he attended the noon session when the board met as a County Board of Canvassers to canvass the vote cast at the general election last week.

COUNTY HAIRDRESSERS BANQUETED ON MONDAY

The Ulster County Hairdressers' Kingston Unit No. 8, held a charter banquet and dance at Golden Rule Inn last night with over 100 members and guests. Following the banquet George D. Logan, master of ceremonies, introduced Miss Ann Ruckert, chairman of the banquet, who gave a brief welcome and then introduced Mrs. George D. Logan, president of the local unit, who welcomed the guests and expressed her gratitude to all the hairdressers, after which Mrs. Logan was presented with several beautiful floral bouquets for which she thanked the donors in a touching and impressive manner.

A. Freiberg, business manager of the New York State Association, was next introduced and talked on legislation and cooperation and mentioned that Kingston should be very proud of having such a capable president.

Assemblyman E. J. Conway next gave a very interesting speech and at the conclusion stressed that cooperation was the only means of success.

Representatives from New York and Albany jobbing houses were present. At the conclusion of the speaking, the president read the applications of 19 operators employed in the beauty salons in Kingston who will become members of this fraternal organization in December. Mr. Roberts was given a rising vote of thanks for his work in obtaining the new members.

A very interesting entertainment program was then presented by Master William Wrigg, Kingston's youngest well known entertainer, who gave the presentation of a flag and several recitations, followed by several little girls of Miss Helen Caslin, dancing instructor, who gave different dance novelties.

Dancing followed to the strains of Roger Raab's orchestra.

The following had charge of this successful banquet: Miss Ann Ruckert, Miss Nell Walsh, Miss E. Ostlund, Mrs. F. Putvin and Mrs. E. Erickson.

Plans are in progress for an educational meeting to be held in December, which will be of much interest to all.

Wit and Humor

HOW!

The clerk at the office for registry of births, marriages, etc., was new to his job and not very well acquainted with the customary procedure.

"I want a certificate," began the caller.

"What name?" asked the clerk.

"New—Thomas New."

"Pardon me, I didn't quite catch it."

"I'm New. New to you! New to everybody! New to the world!"

"What you want is a birth certificate," said the clerk, absently.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Service With a Smile

Restaurant Customer—Look here, waiter; how much longer must I wait for that half portion of Long Island duckling?

Waiter—Just until somebody orders the other half, sir. You know we can't go out and kill half a duck.

More Difficult Now

Gruft Father to Son—Why don't you get out and find a job? When I was your age I was working for $3 a week in a store, and at the end of five years I owned the store.

Son—You can't do that nowadays. They have cash registers.

CALAMITY

Suitor—Sir, your daughter has promised to become my wife.

Father—Well, don't come to me for sympathy. You might have known something would happen to you hanging around five nights a week.

Let 'Er Sink

Captain—All is lost! We cannot save the ship!

Moss—Do you hear vat he says, Jake? The ship is going to sink!

Jake—Yell, let it sink. Vat do we care? Ye don't own it, do ye?

Modern Youth

Teacher—Give an instance of a soul without a body.

Pupil—An angel.

Teacher—Now give an instance of a body without a soul.

Pupil—A credit man.

His Revenge

The Lady—I gave you a piece of pie last week and you've been sending your friends here ever since.

The Tramp—You're mistaken, lady. Them was my enemies.

Breadwinner

First Wife—We've been married ten years and I still kiss my husband good-by mornings.

Second Wife—So do I, but I have to take care not to wake him up.

A Milk Measure

Child—A pound of milk, please.

Dairymaid—Well, but milk is not weighed. It is measured.

Child—Then I had better take a yard.

Long Process

"Where have you been the last four years?"

"At college taking medicine."

"And did you finally get well?"

Fools Her

Man—Does your wife ever talk to herself?

Neighbor—Not to realize it; she thinks I'm listening.

THE ANSWER

She—They say that the love of money is the root of—

He—Yes—I know—I know—matri-mony.

All in the Training

"Why does a red-headed girl always marry a quiet fellow?"

"She doesn't. He just gets that way."

Amicitia Meets Tonight

The Amicitia, the organization of young people connected with the Congregation Abrahams Israel, will hold its regular meeting this evening in the vestry of the congregation, corner Spring and Warts streets. Important business will be discussed and all members are urged to be present.

FINALLY REACHED HOME

"Here, please," cried the conductor. "Here!" The passenger paid no attention.

"Here, please," the conductor repeated.

Still the passenger was oblivious.

"By the explanatory term 'here,'" said the conductor, "I imply no reference to the state of the weather, the complexion of the admirable blonde you observe in the adjoining seat, nor even to the quality of the service vouchsafed by this philanthropic corporation—I merely allude in a manner, perhaps lacking in delicacy, but not in consciousness, to the monetary obligation set up by your presence in this car and suggest that you liquidate."

At this point the passenger emerged from his trance.—Spray Stories Magazine.

WANTS TO BE SURE

"You seem to like Jack's attentions, why don't you marry him?"

"Because I like his attentions."

Not for Show

A sudden shower drove him into the umbrella shop.

"I want a jump," he said.

"Yes, sir," said the shopkeeper. "What type would you like—a good quality one?"

The customer shrugged his shoulders.

"No," he replied, "I only want it for bad weather."

Different Angle

Two men were chatting in the club-room.

"This business about beautifying golf courses is a lot of rubbish," said one warmly. "The question of scenery shouldn't enter into golf at all."

"Quite," agreed the other, "but the job is to keep one's golf from entering into the scenery."

That'll Hold Her

The lady had had her photograph taken, and called at the studio with the proofs.

"I don't like any of these poses," she complained. "They don't do me justice."

"Justical," was the reply, "madam, what you want is mercy!"

He Was Interested

"I had a great time at Sylvia's wedding. One man never took his eyes off me the whole time."

"Was he a tall, dark man?"

"Yes."

"Oh, he was a private detective engaged to guard the presents."

YEA, SELDOM

He—They say that a man's as young as he feels.

She—May be; but he is seldom as important.

Fixed

Mother—Dorothy, you have disobeyed mother by racing around and making all the noise. Now you shan't have that piece of candy.

Father (entering a few minutes later)—Why so quiet, little one?

Dorothy—I've been fixed for speed.

Wouldn't Even Suspect the Butler

"The police in this town are the dumbest in the whole U. S. A.," growled the editor of Podunk Bugle.

"Huh!" snarled the reporter. "They couldn't even find a clew if they were out hunting for the dumbbells who murder the king's English."

Eloquent Counsel

Judge—You cannot withdraw your plea of "guilty" after the hearing of your case.

Accused—But my counsel's final speech has convinced me that I am innocent.

The Manager—No, you won't do. Your voice isn't good enough for our chorus.

The Tenor—But I'm willing to sing twice as much and twice as loud as anyone else.

Ten Boys Wanted to Enlist in C. C. C.

The emergency work relief bureau in the old armory received word from Washington this morning that Kingston was allowed a further quota of 10 boys for enlistment in the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Boys eligible for enlistment must be registered on the work relief; be between 18 and 25 years of age and have dependents.

All boys eligible who desire to enlist in the C. C. C. should call at the work relief office in the old armory on Broadway on Wednesday as the boys accepted will be sent away Thursday morning.

Blind Fish Is Native of Subterranean Pools

The blind fish is a fish without eyes. It is of the genus Amblyopsis, (which really means "pale eyes"), found in subterranean waters of Indiana and Kentucky. In Mammoth and Wyandotte caves and others, says the Indianapolis News. It is described as resembling nothing so much as a "blacked-out" catfish, swimming on its back. Its color, usually spoken of as a "ghostly white," is in reality a delicate pink, due to the show of blood color seen through the translucent and slightly iridescent skin. It ranges in average size from two to five inches. The eggs, which are quite large, are deposited within the gill chamber, where the young remain until they are able to lead a separate existence. It has been determined that the fish is permanently blinded, so that individuals reared in the light do not change color. It is hereditarily blind. If reared in the light, even through repeated generations, it may never become a seeing fish. The blinded condition, as well as the loss of sense organs, is the result of an individual hereditary adaptation, which is transmissible and becomes hereditarily fixed. If placed in the open, the fish will live in the shade. It obtains its food solely through the tactile sense; it has an arrangement of tactile organs which appear about the head and inform it of any disturbance in the water. Though it has well-formed ears it is apparently as deaf as it is blind and no sound appears to disturb it.

Pine Gives More Heat Than Heavy Hardwoods

Pound for pound, pine wood gives off more heat than hickory. There is a widespread belief that hickory or other heavy hardwood has a higher fuel value than pine. Tests by the forest products laboratory of the United States Department of Agriculture show the fallacy of this notion, which probably has held sway since stores first came into use.

A cord of hickory wood, being heavier, may give off more heat than a cord of pine. But most resinous woods, like pine, have a higher heat-production value per pound than nonresinous woods.

Another mistaken idea about fuel wood is that sapwood of long-leaf pine contains more resin than the heartwood. This notion comes probably from the frequent sight of "gum" glistening on the freshly cut sapwood, but not on the heartwood. Although the resin is formed in the sapwood, it is stored mostly in the heartwood, according to the forest service.

Native Dress in Java

Present-day Java affects many strange combinations of foreign and native dress, but from the native rulers to the servant the long, straight skirt, with a single fold in front is almost universally worn.

How to Reduce Heating Costs

by JOHN BARCLAY,
Heating Expert

Some of my readers have written me regarding an occasional gas odor in their homes which they trace to their heating plants. For the benefit of any others who may be troubled this way, I'll discuss the matter further.

All fuels generate a gas when they are ignited. It is the inability of this gas, that is generated in your furnace, to escape up the chimney, that causes an odor to permeate the house.

When you shovel a fresh lot of coal on a hot fire these gases are released very rapidly because the volatile matter in the fuel is immediately distilled and the small amount of moisture that is always present, is evaporated.

For this reason it is advisable to provide a slightly increased draft at the time of refueling. This can be done by closing the check damper. If a thermostat is used, this can be done by manual operation of the damper motor. This extra draft should be left on for a few minutes in order to give the gas sufficient air to burn and escape.

There is a considerable amount of heat in these volatile matters which will escape if it is not given sufficient air at a proper temperature. It is for this reason that I repeatedly urge you not to cover the entire fuel surface with fresh coal, but to leave a "hot spot" of live coals just inside the fire door so that it will act as a pilot light for any gases that may be released.

After the gases are burning, the check damper should be set back to its original position.

Other causes of gas odors may be traced to leaky chimney pipes, leaks around the connections of chimney pipe to boiler, or chimney pipe to chimney. These latter decrease the draft to a point where the gases cannot go up the chimney even with the damper wide open. Needless to say, such conditions should be checked at once. One final word: keep the fire door closed at all times except when you are actually putting fuel on the fire.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

M. M., No. Tonawanda, N. Y.—The accumulation inside the firebox in the boiler is without a doubt an accumulation caused by the burning of a large quantity of newspapers. We know no better means to clean this accumulation than to get a good hot anthracite fire which will burn the material off.

We might mention it is very important to remove this coating, as it is a decided insulator.

(If you have any heating problems address John Barclay, Room 1814, 120 Broadway, New York City. He will be glad to reply in a personal letter.)

Talks to Parents

Money Values

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

One of the problems which beset every family where there are children is the teaching of the use and value of money.

For, though the line between extravagance and parsimony seems distinctly clear, there are few ideas of emphasis which are clearly visible, and which to a greater or less extent characterize the whole approach to life.

One child will lay undue emphasis on money itself as a possession, and will make any sacrifice to get and keep what is, after all, merely a symbol.

Another will spend every cent as fast as he gets it, with no regard to the value of his returns. Some children are generous to a fault, and know their money away as fast as it comes and presents; others spend only for themselves and begrudge every leading money to others.

There are hundreds of variations on this theme, and often two or three types will be found in the same family. To moderate and guide all these embryo financiers and miser-do-wells, these youthful hoarders and spendthrifts, and to teach them the wise use of money is the task of the parents.

For here as always the school is handicapped by a lack of time and plasticity, and furthermore reaches the child, too late.

Money sense, a feeling for values, is not an instinct, but in a world where so much emphasis is laid on wealth and the medium of exchange, the child is exposed to its influence before he is old enough to reason. He wants a toy and is told that mother has no pennies.

At once his education in finance has begun and, consciously or unconsciously, he is influenced by money or the lack of it from that moment on.

TOWN CENTER HAD SUPPER AND SOCIAL

A supper was given last Sunday night in the Uptown Community Center by the Ladies' Auxiliary of that organization. Prior to the supper, Roger Keough and several of his pupils entertained with a variety of vocal numbers. Among those on the program were Harold Smith, Rachel Short, Margie Calvin, Ellen Sutton, Buddy Oulton and Harold Moss. Carp also gave several piano selections.

After the supper, the Melody rubbers furnished the music for the remainder of the program. The fair was attended by a large crowd, and the supper will go to the upkeep of the center.

Polish Cagers Open Season Tonight at White Eagle

The Z. N. P. basketball team opens its season at White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue, tonight, opposing the Poughkeepsie P. N. A., which last winter broke even with it in two games. Both clubs are out strong for a victory this evening, so a fiery tilt is anticipated.

Starting time of the contest is 8:30. It will be preceded by a girls' game bringing together St. Mary's team against the Winkley All Stars at 7:30 o'clock. Following the game features there will be dancing. Andy's Orchestra will furnish the music.

In the main game Manager "Dolly" Teasdale of the Z. N. P. will use his regulars. The roster of the club bears the following names: Billy Kenzoch, L. Kolano, Cez Mostalkiewicz, John Dudek, Clet Kieffer, Randy Kieffer, E. Mostalkiewicz.

Last season the Z. N. P. had a large following. This year the team expects to draw equally well at the White Eagle and hopes that there will be a capacity crowd out tonight for the opening set of games.

Yellow Jackets Book Newburgh, Po'keepsie

Sunday afternoon at the Kingston Fair Grounds the Yellow Jackets will oppose the Newburgh Hellos in a football contest that is expected to present plenty of thrills to those who turn out to witness it. Practice for the battle will be held in the rear of the old armory on Broadway tonight at 7:15 o'clock. Manager Ken Dyson hopes all his men will be on hand early for the drill.

The Hellos claim the southern Hudson Valley grid championship and are out to whip the Yellow Jackets, whose fame is widely known down the river. In the backfield of the Newburgh contingent are several former high school stars, including Argento and Chumas. These two appeared here in the game that the Wasps won from Poughkeepsie 12-0 some time ago.

Poughkeepsie despite its decisive bow to the Jackets still thinks it is capable of handing the local gridlers a triumph, and for that reason has arranged with Manager Dyson to bring the Colonials to the Bridge City on Thanksgiving Day. Three years ago the Jackets went to Poughkeepsie and trimmed the home club 13-6 in a benefit game for the Salvation Army. They hope to turn the trick again. Interest in the duel indicates that at least 2,000 fans will be on hand for the battle. Probably many Kingston grid enthusiasts will follow the Wasps on the holiday.

PUNTS and PASSES

(By The Associated Press)
New York—Lafayette College's football team which plays Columbia Saturday never has been beaten by the Lions in a rivalry that goes back 44 years. The catch in it is that the two schools played a 10-10 tie in 1889 and never have met each other since.

South Bend, Ind.—Notre Dame's failure to score in four successive games has got Hank Anderson baffled. "My boys just seem to be playing against a flinx," he said. "We gain the yards but can't score. It's beyond me to explain."

Annapolis, Md.—There'll be no rest for Navy's tars this week with the battle against undefeated, untied and unscorced-on Princeton coming up. The practice program, says Rip Miller, will consist of "scrimmage, scrimmage, plenty of scrimmage."

Philadelphia—Penn will be able to claim some kind of a distance record if a reported backfield shift goes through. The report had it that Bill Shanahan, back, would be replaced by Josiah McCracken, sophomore, whose home is in Shanghai, China.

Cincinnati—Xavier University can point with pride to its defensive record even if its defeats do outnumber its victories. The Cincinnati school has held its last four rivals—Carnegie tech, Washington and Jefferson, Centre, Loyola of New Orleans—to a total of 25 points and lost all four games.

Hanover, N. H.—The Dartmouth Indians, given a complete holiday for the first time this season yesterday, are crediting the weather man with an assist. Coach Jack Cannell was so pleased with his players' work at Princeton that he thought they rated a holiday. But the fact remains that two inches of snow on the practice field made a drill impracticable anyhow.

New York—Football fans hereabouts are stealing a leaf out of the baseball book. Ed Danowski kicked an extra point against New York University so emphatically last week

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

The changes in the college football picture prior to the so-called crucial stages of the various championship races in November have been more abrupt and startling than any season in years.

Happenings on the major grid-irons, of course, are simply running true to 1933 form, which has involved more upsets in every sphere of sport than ever before in a single campaign.

Still, the boys have reason to be a trifle disturbed by such October developments as the defeat of Tennessee on two successive Saturdays, as many as the Vols lost altogether in five or six previous years; the end of Southern California's 25-game winning streak in a scoreless tie with Oregon State; the downfall of Notre Dame and Pittsburgh on the same afternoon; and the decline of such other top-ranking forces of football as Auburn and Texas Christian.

All of these things, naturally, have figured in emphasizing the rebound of other teams, besides tending to bring the mighty down to a more common and less fearsome level in the scramble for major honors.

I do not recall a season when reputations, gained over a long stretch of time, have seemed to have less effect. The business of bowling over the favorites is on the upgrade, without the restrictions of any Federal code.

Michigan Impressive
Southern California generally was top-ranked among the nation's college teams in 1931 and 1932. There were good and sufficient reasons for crowning the Trojans.

Yet there were a number of close observers last year who considered the University of Michigan as good as any outfit in the country, and this year's developments lift the Wolverines to an even higher notch.

It may be necessary to attach some reservations later but the Octobee sweep of Michigan is the most impressive of any eleven in the country. There are still some tough hurdles for the Wolverines, not the least of which will be Minnesota's aggressive young outfit, but it looks as though the only way to stop Harry Kipke's team is to catch it in a slump, on a bad day and a muddy field.

East's Heavyweights
Army struck the East's major intersectional blow in kicking Illinois, on the same afternoon that Carnegie was taking Notre Dame into camp, but neither of these teams looms as the strongest on the Eastern front.

Fordham, coached by Jimmy Crowley for the first time, and Princeton, enjoying its first real fruits of the Fritz Crisler regime, look to be the Eastern teams-of-the-year, taking into account line play, offensive punch and reserve strength. The early performances of Princeton's sophomores have been no less than sensational.

Fordham's schedule includes intersectional contests with two prominent Far Western foes, St. Mary's and Oregon State. It presents the opportunity, at least, for the "bulldog" of an invitation to the classic Rose Bowl game at Pasadena on New Year's Day.

Practice Tonight for Pete Bruck's Giants At High Falls Hall

Pete Bruck's All Stars, representing Stone Ridge again on the basketball court this year, will practice this evening at B. W. S. Hall, High Falls, where they are to play all home contests against the strongest opposition available.

As tonight's drill will be the last prior to the opening of the season on Wednesday evening, November 22, all members of the squad are requested to be present. In the first game the Bruckmen will face the Liberty Emeralds, Sullivan county champions.

In picking his players, Bruck signed a number of giants. Vince Knoll is 6 feet six inches; "Woody" Wood, six feet, two; Herb Van Dusen, six feet, one; Bun Chilson, six feet, ½; Pete Bruck, six feet, and Bob Cullum, five feet, eight. Cullum is the shortest, but his speed and ability as one of the most outstanding cagers of the vicinity makes up for the few inches he lacks in height.

There will be preliminary games to all feature attractions at B. W. S. and dancing will follow the contests. Wednesday night of this week the Stone Riders will hold a dance at B. W. S. Hall. Proceeds of this social event will be used to help equip the team.

DART BASEBALL GAME WEDNESDAY AT ST. JAMES

Some New Alley Records

In the City Bowling League contest which the Livingstons won from the Uptown Merchants by taking three straight games last night some sensational record making was registered. Harry Studt of the Livingstons, one of the youngest bowlers in the league, hit a new all-time high three mark with a score of 678, topping Charles Petri's 668 of last week. Besides making a record for himself, Studt helped his team to create a new high mark for three games. The Livingstons spilled the pins for 1951, a score never equaled in local organized bowling history, according to followers of the sport. Gus Wiedemann, another member of the Livingstons, topped Bill Thiel's high single record by one when he rolled 265 in the third game.

Goshen Quintet To Play Spinnys Friday

Manager Alanson Short has announced that his Spinnys quintet will meet St. John's of Goshen at Pythian Hall, Port Ewen, Friday night in the basketball feature there starting at 8:45 o'clock. Short will use the same lineup that won for him over the Middletown Huskies and Saugerties Bigfews.

In the string of players carried by the Saints are such men as Whitman, "Red" Knight, Earl Barry, Harry Travers and Chet Pulverant.

Preliminary to the main attraction the Port Ewen Aces will stack up against the Tonawandas of Poughkeepsie. This tilt is slated for 7:45. After the games Jack Cashin's Night-hawks will play for dancing.

PARASITES GAINING ON ORIENTAL FRUIT MOTHS

Despite the fact that the oriental fruit moth, once described as the greatest unsolved orchard problem, has now become well established by the entire commercial peach area of western New York, the outlook for the control of the pest with parasites was more promising at the close of the present season than at any time since the moth was first discovered in this state in 1926. This, in substance, is the conclusion reached by Dr. D. M. Daniel, entomologist at the Experiment Station at Geneva, who has devised methods for the rearing of parasites of the fruit moth in the infested area. The Experiment Station has just issued a bulletin entitled "Biological Control of the Oriental Fruit Moth," by Dr. Daniel and his associates which describes the use of parasites in combating the pest.

"The infestation of the oriental fruit moth in peaches in Niagara county reached a peak in 1932, with a steady decline in injury since that time," says Dr. Daniel. "It is probable that this reduction is due to a large measure to the activities of the parasites of the fruit moth larvae which have been liberated in the region. Yearly increases in the amount of parasitism in Niagara county by this species have been followed by appreciable reductions in the amount of injury to the fruit."

"Since 1928, a total of 19 colonies of the larval parasite have been distributed over the area of infestation in western New York. It now seems reasonable to suppose that after this parasite becomes well established in Orleans, Monroe and Wayne counties a reduction in the fruit moth populations of these counties will follow."

"Fruit moth larvae have been found in appreciable numbers in apples, while quinces suffer severely from the pest. Unfortunately, the larval parasites which have apparently been successful in reducing infestations in peach orchards have been unable to exert appreciable control in quinces because of the peculiarity that the parasite experiences in reaching larvae that burrow deep into the fruit of the quince."

GRAPHIC GOLF

HEAVY HEADED IRONS

TOMMY ARMOUR'S iron shots have long been the admiration of all golfers, better and star alike. Although Armour realizes the futility of an average player hitting a long, straight iron that will compare favorably with those of the powerful whistling pro, he does think that the high headed player can help himself considerably by proper selection of iron clubs. The Master stressed, light headed irons in his estimation are not the best suited ones for the game. Most of the better players have clubs with rather heavy heads which at least give the suggestion that there is something strong and solid in their hands. He advises such heads for the average player, coupled with a slight flexibility in the shaft which should increase proportionately for the longer iron. With such clubs there is a tendency to hit the ball more easily, which in itself is conducive of better form than a vicious swing with a slightly weighted head. There is also a shock to the latter which soon dies the wrists and hands.

NORMAL SCHOOL STUDENTS ATTEND NEW YORK OPERA

New Paltz, Nov. 14.—On Sunday morning at 7 o'clock two bus loads, numbering about 75 students of Professor Howard Hoffmann's music appreciation class, started from the New Paltz Hotel for New York, where they heard the great Wagnerian opera, "Tristan and Isolde," at the Hippodrome Theatre. Before attending the opera they visited Radio City. Coming from there they had lunch and spent the afternoon at the Hippodrome. They were also accompanied by Miss Marion Harding and one or two other faculty members.

The event was a new undertaking and was a most enjoyable portion of the music appreciation course. The class had been studying this opera for the past week and to see it was more appreciated. They returned to New Paltz about midnight.

Pupils in This Class Must Keep Wide Awake

HERE is a class at Catalina Island, Calif., whose pupils cannot afford to show any indifference to their studies. If they fail in their work, they go face the drink with a big splash and there's all there's to it. When you hit the water a few times traveling at the speed of 40 miles per hour, you either make up your mind to stay on the skiddy board or quit school. This novel "aquaplane college" was organized by Roy Arnold, the man leading the class.

Indians Catching Salmon on the Columbia River

INDIAN fishermen utilize a net at the end of a long pole to catch salmon as they make the run to jump the falls on the Columbia river in Oregon. The Indians have to be very alert as it takes great strength and skill to hold a 30 to 50 pound salmon when it hits the net going at full speed.

NEW PALTZ CHURCH KEEPS ANNIVERSARY

New Paltz, Nov. 14.—Services in keeping with Armistice Day were held in the Methodist Church on Sunday, November 12. The Sunday School opening program was in charge of a class of little girls. In the absence of the pianist, Mrs. Robert L. Mauterstock substituted. Gertrude Small read a verse of "My Country Is the World". The devotional reading was recited in unison. A prayer was read by Faith Mack. A poem on "Peace" was read by Miss Joyce Mauterstock, after which the superintendent, Myron Vandemark, gave a short talk on the World War and of the life and money it cost.

The morning church service began at 11 o'clock with the usual form. The choir sang an anthem with George Newton and Mrs. Mary Moody as soloists. The pastor read the Scripture lesson from Chapter 12 of First Corinthians. Text, Proverbs 11-14. Subject, "The Need for Statesmanship". The whole sermon was very forceful, the pastor bringing out many outstanding points. He said for lack of good and honest statesmanship a nation sinks. Statesmanship means wise guidance. It has been badly misplaced by corruptible politicians. True statesmanship lifts instead of sinks. The greatest Statesman who ever lived was Jesus Christ, who said, "Repent for the Kingdom of Heaven is at Hand".

The Epworth League service was led by Miss Grace Hasbrouck; topic, "Why Do We Seek Power?" The evening worship included the singing of hymns. Vladimir Moody sang a tenor solo. The sermon subject was "The Excluded Christ", and the pastor's message was very impressive. The service closed with the Benediction chimes and Postlude.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Peter Ean Friday, November 17, at 2:30 p. m. The devotions are in charge of Mrs. Lillian Ades. Miss Burnice, president of the Standard Bearers' Society, will have the program, giving the first two chapters of the study book, "Eastern Women of Today".

Better Get Goin' on your Storm Sash!

Surely the thousands of home owners who install storm sashes on their homes each fall must have a good reason for doing so. As a matter of fact there are several. First, storm sashes keep the home warmer and free of cold-drafts. Second, tests show that storm sashes cut fuel bills, pay for their installation in one or two seasons. We offer you unusual values in storm sashes this year—and will adjust a free estimate on your installation. Please see us.
